RED FIVE

Red Five is an American DJ and producer who combines her love of funky disco and acid tech house to create an unforgettable groovy sound that keeps the dance floor moving all night. With an extensive artistic background and many years of playing the piano under her belt, Red Five has always cherished the ability to express herself through art and music in order to connect with her crowd. Initially attending school to become a Psychologist, Red Five decided she was better able to help people through her true passion – music
